

Woman with a Heart for Bakersfield

Robin Fleming

Robin Fleming has a heart of a caring encourager. She translates her passion to see others succeed into warm words of support – encouraging all to reach for their goals and providing support throughout the process. Robin has a unique ability of making everyone who knows her feel like they have been friends forever.

She is an advocate that the entire community can count on in times of need and also in times of celebration.

Robin has 25 years of very successful experience in the oil and gas industry working for small family-owned companies and large corporations. She is currently Policy, Government and Public Relations Representative for Chevron North America Exploration and Production, utilizing her exceptional leadership skills for local government and community outreach. Robin gives selflessly in the development and execution of employee volunteer projects and special events in our community with far reaching impact. As Director of Marketing and Corporate Communications Manager for Fleet Card Fuels, Robin helped market natural gas and bio-diesel fueling stations in Kern County. Her teaching and creativity inspired many while conducting training on customer service skills, advertising and marketing for independent petroleum companies.

As Senior Manager of Business Development at Kern Economic Development Corporation, Robin excelled in her responsibilities for supporting the energy/natural resources and aerospace/defense industries in a variety of policy issues. Her attentive heart for women was instrumental in helping to found the Alliance of Women in Energy (AWE), a networking and mentoring group for women professionals in the energy and utility fields. Robin eagerly provided organization and compassionate support for AWE's monthly membership luncheons and quarterly networking events inspiring women in all facets of energy in the County of Kern.

Robin has led as a member of the board of directors for Kern Literacy Council and Kern Taxpayers Assn.; a faculty member of Kern Leader's Academy; vice-chair of the advisory committee for the Taft College Energy Technology Program; with American Heart Association as the chair of Open Your Heart, Circle of Red, and the annual conference committee, a member of the executive leadership team and chapter board of directors; as well as California representative for the federal lobby day, meeting with senatorial and congressional staff passionately advocating for health-related issues. For six years, Robin mentored students in the Independence High School Energy and Utility career academy.

Robin has a love of learning. She is committed to constant renewal and replenishment of her mind, spirit, and body and encourages others to follow suit. Robin attained a two-year certificate in Leadership Development from Indiana University, a Bachelor of Theology from Summit Bible College, and excels towards her Masters of Theology in Leadership at Summit. Most important to Robin is being a servant leader who inspires and encourages advancing the Gospel for women of all ages through classes, seminars and Bible studies.

With her exuberant energy and love of people, Robin's hobby is raising charity funds while running and race-walking; she has completed over 50 events and still counting! Robin is blessed to have great family and friends – loving them all!
